ORPHEUM'S NEW SHOW TONIGHT

The big crowds have had their fill of vaudeville luxury this week at the Orpheum, the program being one of those sparkling affairs, classy in the extreme and too some as any luscious concoction, fresh from the stew pans of the caterer.

This week's show has the same look of delightful vaudeville fare. It is with the blend of novelties which the Orpheum alone purveys, and surrounding towns have come to associate with the name of "Orpheum."

The feature act of the bill, and one that will be the talk of the town, is a one-act drama called "The Police Inspector," by Clay M. Greene and Harrison Armstrong. A battle of wits between a great detective and a rich man, and a powerful criminal is a theme that never fails to interest. The so-called third degree has been shown on the stage as being applied to women, low criminals, servants and even the noblest of men.

The method of the rich and influential men, but it remained for Messrs. Greene and Armstrong to present us with the idea of an inspector of detectives pitting his skill in this process against the will power and keen brain of a great man. A man of the questioned social and financial standing. To present such a trial of strength at cross-questioning and such an array of evidence as will break down the estimating circumstances, has required skill as a playwright far out of the ordinary, and the picture presented is one in market contrast to the usual pitiful exhibition afforded in stage presentations dealing with the theme.

know more about the financial resources of your particular localities. And obtaining money is not a matter to generalize upon; it requires specific action, and I leave it to you.

"I will talk first of macadamized roads. This form of road building has been the subject of much discussion, and according to this premier road builder it meant making a roadway out of broken pieces of stone placed upon a driveway, to the depth of twelve or eighteen inches. In fact, eighteen inches of broken rock was necessary in order to make a solid surface, as the stone pecked down to a twelve inch thickness. Macadam said that as a gauge for the size of the rock pieces he would use a man's mouth. That would seem like a very uncertain gauge but he meant that the pieces of stone should be about two inches in diameter. He used no filler or with which to interlock the fragments of stone and he had in his time steam rollers. He had to place his broken rock on the road and then wait until the narrow wheels of vehicles smoothed the surface. There were always ruts cut into the road while it was being "rolled" in this way and the making of such a road required more money than it was worth.

Many Good Materials.
"Macadam never realized the advantage of some good filler to help weld together his broken rock and he never realized that there were many different kinds of material which were equally as good as rock for the making of roads. Today we make good roads—which are commonly called macadamized roads—out of various materials. Good roads are made in some parts of the country out of oyster shells and in other districts from the slag or waste product of mines and smelters and steel mills.

"I believe that clay with a binder of tar is the very best material with which to make a road. But sand, clay, asphalt and a number of other materials may be used as a binder with slag and good results obtained. The macadamized road is destroyed from the surface and it is absolutely essential that the surface be well made and well rolled. The steam roller is to the road but what the trowel is to the mason and it must be used with the same care.

No Guess Work Necessary.
"I wish to especially caution every road builder against taking any chance with his material. It is no longer necessary to assume any risks as to the value of material. Any one can send a sample of road building material to the office of public roads at Washington, D. C., and it will be there analyzed and its exact value determined and ascertained and reported to the sender."

The speaker told of the effect on good roads made by the advent of the automobile and stated that the automobile would finally supersede the horse in almost every line where the horse is still used. He gave the automobile movement much credit for the improvement in the good roads movement is now receiving in many parts of the country.

Mr. Dodge was forced to cut his talk short in order to give W. D. Rich, of Salt Lake City, manager of the Automobile Club of Utah, an opportunity to deliver an address on the "Relation of the Automobile to Good Roads."

I cannot be thankful enough for what the Orange Blossom Suppository has done for me. I was a chronic sufferer for five years with abscess of the womb, could not ride or walk at all, was greatly reduced and only weighed 124 pounds. I learned of the Orange Blossom Suppository and gave it a trial, was relieved from the first, have used nearly two boxes and am a well woman, weigh 160 pounds and do all my own housework. PETITION TAFT FOR PARDON
Walsh, Richard W. Walsh and John W. Walsh, respectively the wife and sons of the prisoner. Accompanying the formal petition, I learned were thousands of letters of individuals in Chicago and throughout the middle west, urging President Taft to grant the petition. The file of these letters comprise twenty-five bound volumes. Besides the letters from personal friends and business associates there were letters from all the officers and directors of the Walsh banks which were involved in the case; letters from the banks stockholders and depositors, and jurors who found Walsh guilty of misappropriating funds of his banks.

In 1907 Mr. Walsh was found guilty of a violation of the United States banking laws, in having made excessive loans to railroads in which he was interested and in 1908 he was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth prison.

Walsh is 73 years old and the main motive in the appeal to the president is based on the prisoner's failing health. He is reported suffering from

It will meet in the Knight building in Provo, and a local committee in making arrangements for the convention, entertainment of the delegates. An unusually good program has been prepared and the event promises to be a most interesting one. A feature of special importance will be the report of committees selected to gain information in regard to inducements possible to be presented for the meeting of biennial here in 1912. The result of these reports will be submitted to the board of directors of the national federation, which will meet in November, and the prospects are exceptionally bright for gaining the prize.

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK MEN —FREE
Send Name and Address Today— You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, nervous drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his only power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest and best combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that they may know who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, uplifting, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4290 Oak Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

FIRST SAMPLE RECORDS READY
Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir Manager Receives Favorable Telegram from New York.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 24.—A musical surprise party was sprung Friday evening, when Manager J. J. Daynes, Jr., of the Daynes-Beebe Music company received a telegram from Manager George W. Lyle of the Columbia Phonograph company at New York stating, "First sample records completed; expressing you some today."

These are the records taken of the organ and choir in the tabernacle several weeks ago, which were not expected here for a couple of weeks yet, but which the company seems to have pushed through with unusual expedition at its Bridgeport, Ct., factory. Mr. Daynes says he looks for the records Monday next, and there will certainly be a great rush to hear them. While no mention is made in the telegram as to the success at the factory the fact that the records have been sent west, argues that they must be satisfactory.

ADIES' or gentlemen's garments can be kept in beautiful condition until worn out—by taking frequent advantage of our dry cleaning and pressing service.

Our dry cleaning process removes the soil and stain from your clothing, freshens up the fabric, brightens the colors and raises the nap like new. It does not affect the life or color of even the most dainty or delicate garments.

Our pressing service takes out the wrinkles, creases and other marks of wear. It gives the garments a new like shape and fit. It removes all the bagginess in the knees and elbows, etc.

Every garment or article is handled in each part of the process by skillful, careful workers. We use the genuine French Dry Cleaning process, or cleaning by spirits and solvents, and have a thoroughly up-to-date equipment.

You should send your garments to us, and take advantage of this service. No article of men or women's wear is too dainty for us to dry clean and finish satisfactorily—and our charges are not high.
